GridApp Clarity™ Awarded Silver in 2008 ServerWatch.com Product Excellence Awards

ServerWatch.com Readers Vote GridApp into a Top Spot for the Second Consecutive Year

NEW YORK - June 9, 2008 -- GridApp Systems, Inc. (www.gridapp.com), the leading provider of database automation software and solutions, today announced that it was voted by ServerWatch.com readers as a best product in the 2008 ServerWatch.com Product Excellence Awards. Last year GridApp was runner-up in the Server Appliance category; this year GridApp brought home the silver in the Automation or Compliance Tool category - making it the second consecutive year that GridApp was recognized by ServerWatch.com for product excellence.

GridApp's mission is to simplify, standardize, and streamline database operations through best practices automation. GridApp Clarity automates common database tasks like patching, deployment, user administration, and upgrades. It also enables users to centrally manage configuration information across the database environment.

"Our recognition the past few years by ServerWatch.com is a direct reflection of our innovation and traction in the market," said Robert Gardos, CEO of GridApp Systems. "Database automation is increasingly becoming a critical component for IT managers' overall strategy - and this is very much attributed to our continued effort in developing and fine-tuning our product to address the pain points of our customers."

With Clarity, customers can accelerate time to market, increase ratio of databases to database administrators, and save up to 75 percent on database related costs - helping to better pair enterprise database capabilities with business needs.
